

Sixth Annual Conference on Cultural Politics of the Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung

“Kulturpolitik im Welt(en)Wandel” Cohesion and participation on a diverse world

April 20-21, 2018

In building 1 of the Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung
Hiroshimastraße 17 * 10785 Berlin

What is the task of cultural politics in an age of drastic political and cultural upheavals: an era in which we are confronted by growing social inequality, rising populism, and isolationism?

Art and culture can make diversity visible, call for respect and tolerance, transgress internal and external boundaries, and help shape processes of change.

How can we fashion a kind of cultural politics that allows space for art and culture to flourish and builds solid foundations for them? Let's get started!

You are invited to enter into a dialogue with us and our guests from the world of cultural politics, including creative artists working in different media, the representatives of cultural associations, and disseminators of cultural knowledge from civil society organizations. Get networked and work with us to create a common space of exchange, debate, and ideas.
